Your annual RSU planning pack

A private worksheet for Indian professionals and globally connected families. Review vested shares, future awards, goals and specialist questions before the next vest or trading window.

1. Build the current picture

Use approximate values in one currency and one valuation date. Keep account numbers, passwords and confidential employer documents out of this worksheet.

Review date / currency	Your notes
Employer / employment location
Current and expected tax-residence countries
Vested employer shares: current market value
Other liquid investments, excluding same-sector holdings below
Same-sector investments outside employer shares
Unvested awards: approximate value and vest dates
Annual salary and bonus (record separately)

2. Measure concentration

Vested concentration = vested employer shares / (vested employer shares + other liquid investments + same-sector investments). Do not include the same holding twice.

Broader equity dependency = (employer shares + same-sector investments + unvested awards) / (liquid portfolio + unvested awards). This is a scenario measure: unvested awards can lapse and their value changes.

Salary is income, not an investment asset, so it stays outside both percentages. Review career and investment dependency together. These measures do not establish a safe concentration limit.

Connect shares with real decisions

3. Map goals and cash needs

Goal / cash need	Target date	Amount / currency	Depends on these shares?

4. Write the questions before choosing a rule

If this value arrived as cash today, would you buy the same amount of employer stock? What happens to your family plan if the share price falls materially while employment income is also interrupted?

Discuss alternatives such as selling a fixed portion at vest, using a target range, or staging reductions. First confirm trading restrictions, tax consequences, transaction costs and liquidity needs. This pack does not recommend a sale or a specific allocation.

Decision to evaluate	Your discussion notes
Candidate vest-sale or target-range rule
Cash reserve and near-term goals
Destination for proceeds / currency needs
When the rule should be reviewed

Keep the completed pack private. It is a printable worksheet, not a secure document-upload channel.

Your annual review checklist

5. Resolve specialist questions

[ ] Confirm residency and reporting obligations with a qualified tax professional in each relevant country.
[ ] Review vesting, withholding, cost-basis and sale records; do not assume withholding settles the final liability.
[ ] Ask which foreign-asset, account, exchange-control or remittance requirements apply to your circumstances.
[ ] Check employer trading windows, pre-clearance and restrictions before placing an order.
[ ] Confirm broker fees, foreign exchange costs and transfer documentation.
[ ] Review nominees, account access and family continuity with appropriate professionals.

6. Set the next review

Action	Owner / target date
Reconcile holdings and vest schedule
Tax / legal questions to resolve
Document the policy after specialist review
Next annual or event-triggered review
